Future Harvest Conference & Collaborative Funding

At the end of January, Annarose, Local Food Resources Specialist with Manna, joined Catherine Nardi of the Office of Food Systems Resilience, to share the current status of the collaborative funding program at the Future Harvest conference. This was a great opportunity to connect with people around the country invested in creative funding opportunities for farmers. Huge thank you to the participating farmers who shared about their experience with this funding thus far. This program has provided over 19,000 lbs of local product to FAPs, and another 18,000+ lbs are anticipated to be procured throughout 2025.
